DETAILED ACTION

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Information Disclosure Statement

The IDS documents filed on 5/11/06, 10, 12/05 and with the applications filing have been reviewed and made of record.

Specification

2. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.
4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter, which the applicant regards as his invention.
5. Claims 6-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter, which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

As presented, independent claims 6 and 9 are drawn to an optical disc recording/reproducing (interpreted as a recording or reproducing) apparatus. However, no elements/apparatus are recited.

The majority of the claim recites the disc structure, while the ultimate paragraph in either independent claim recites the desired result. Hence at best this is a SINGLE means claim – and suffers accordingly – see In re Hyatt 218 USPQ 195.

Additionally the independent claims are not clear – i.e., what apparatus?

Art Unit: 2627

Dependent claims 7,8,10 and 11 are rejected for not curing the above deficiency, nor for adding any further element(s) to the apparatus but merely reciting desired results.

As far as the claims recite positive limitations, the following rejections are made.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

8. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

9. Claims 1-3,5-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the acknowledged prior art further considered with Nagasawa et al.

The acknowledged prior art depicts the appropriate co-joining of the land areas – (coupling regions) which the examiner interprets as both the tilt detection areas (7) of the claim and the coupling portions (3,4) of claim 5. There is no clear depiction of a "special mark".

Art Unit: 2627

Nagasawa et al teaches in this environment, the provision of marks in the above land regions – as well as the spiral track format.

It would have been obvious to modify the base system of the acknowledged prior art with the above additional teachings from Nagasawa et al, motivation is as discussed therein for provision of a spiral track/ as well as l/g formatting and hence increasing the recording density of a disc as well as provision of the marks for their intended use.

With respect to claim 2, see either figure 1A or 1B for the plural zones (4 in figure 1A, and 4b in figure 1B0.

With respect to claim 3, such is considered inherent in the above combination of references.

Claim 5 has already been discussed.

With respect to claims 6-11 as acknowledged in applicants discussion of the prior art, apparatus is disclosed which performs the tilt detection of the record in question, alternatively the cited prior art to Chung et al – also teaches such. The averaging capability is considered inherently present in Chung et al as is the decision predicated upon the inner area of claims 8 and 11.

Allowable Subject Matter

10. Claim 4 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
